Mr. Ballinger Defended

RICHARD LEWIS WARING, AUTHOR OF "AS WE SEE IT," SUMMARIZES COLLIER'S ATTACK ON THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

Editor Washington Bee: In my article, published in The Bee under date of April 23, 1910, I made known to your readers the character of the sheet known as Collier's Weekly. In this article I will summarize Collier's entire outburst, giving his motives for the same.

COLLIER'S "EDITORIAL BULLETIN" STATEMENT.

We find in Collier's, under caption of "Editorial Bulletin," the following:

"Those who read this article will know rather deeply some things about the real history of the American Government." The above-quoted statement has to do with the article which appeared in Collier's, under date of April 9, 1910, in which it is stated that certain "well-dressed men and women" joined President Taft's party in the West. The contemptible inference, innuendo, which Collier seeks to throw out, being that President Taft on that trip associated with men of questionable character. "Well-dressed men," men of means, rich men; it is that cheap kind of journalism, the arraying of the poor against the rich, or vice versa, by exciting the cupidity of the former, or the contempt of the latter, that has ever characterized these Collier people; but the relation of all this tirade, relating to "well-dressed men and women," their uncles, aunts and cousins, to the thirty-third "remove," joining the Presidential party, to the real history of the American Government only finds lodgement in the inflated brain of Collier's man Friday.

The motive for this attack is to gain cheap notoriety. This whole attack, the basic motive that inspired Collier, may be summed up in Collier's own words. We quote: "This we shall continue to do (meaning these attacks on the Secretary of the Interior), no matter what the cost in money or in hostility from the Administration, and from the predatory rich." "No matter what the cost in money" simply means sue me, make a martyr of me, help me on to cheap advertisement. "Hostility of the Administration." That is purely the result of a "brain storm." Either R. J. Collier or C. P. Donnelly in the administrative class, got "class" enough about them to make them an object of the Administration's wrath! Well, that is enough to make even the Democratic Dogie laugh. What fool ideas these "brain storms" are father to! But let this hallucination of Collier and his man Friday pass.

Collier will be attacked by his own kind. Collier fears some attack from the "predatory rich." Does he fear a rupture with his own kind? If there are any "predatory rich" in this country, Collier is of that class; it may be in his blood, having been brought from hindrance by the sire, but it is there, nevertheless, and notwithstanding, ravenous, rapacious, plundering and pillaging of the good names and homes of men and women, whose lives and homes have always meant something to this country, even before the days of the emigrant ship.

In spite of Collier's vicious attack, R. A. Ballinger's fellow-citizens believe in him. In conclusion, let me state that, in spite of his "laying bare facts," in spite of his lying by inference and innuendo, in spite of his frantic efforts to leaguer all rich men together criminally, in his effort to blind the public, in spite of his "bald-faced" lie that in the West "nine men out of ten speak ill of him," the fact remains that R. A. Ballinger's fellow-citizens are not of Collier's mind, as is evidenced by the passage, April 21, 1910, by the Bar Association of the State of Washington at Seattle, of a set of resolutions characterizing this Collier attack as an "unwarranted and vicious assault," against the passage of which but one dissenting voice was raised. Is it possible that this one dissenting voice is the wee, tiny, infantile wail, in the wilderness of approval, of Heckman's last attorney, given out as he lies gasping in mother Collier's arms and draws life from the bottle of lucre held to his lips by his foster mother, who warbles softly in Connolly's most discordant notes. Collier's new lullaby, "The acid test that sent him into obscurity, with the contempt of men."

There would be no way in the world for a lawyer to pass the scrutiny of the Bar Association of his State and obtain a clean bill of health with but one dissenting vote, unless he was honest and upright.

When a lawyer speaks for a brother lawyer he stakes his own reputation.

Collier has lied from start to finish.

MRS. PORTIA WASHINGTON

PITTMAN.

The Accomplished Pianist

Mrs. Portia Washington Pittman, of Fairmount Heights, D. C., announces that on after the 30th day of April, 1910, she will devote much of her time in giving piano lessons to all persons desirous of becoming accomplished in the musical art.

Lessons will be given only in her private conservatory in the Pittman residence ("Little Whitetops") out at Fairmount Heights.

Each and every pupil will be charged the small uniform fee of three ($3.00) dollars per month in advance, irrespective of their previous experience in the work. This fee will cover one engagement each week, to suit the pupil's convenience.

Madam Pittman has spent over fifteen years at the piano, having had her earliest foundation in many of the best New England conservatories. After graduating at the Bradford Academy in the summer of 1905, she went abroad, visiting many of the foreign conservatories and attending many of the performances of the world's greatest pianists. Afterwards she spent two years in special and post graduate work in Berlin, Germany, under one of the pupils of Liszt, one of the world's greatest pianists.

School Reporter

REPORT OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS

To the Editor of The Bee:

I have before me, what purports to be a copy of the "Report of the Board of Education to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia for the school year 1907-1908," and I crave the indulgence of The Bee to the extent of giving me space to show its many readers the great injustice done the public schools for colored children in said report. The report is replete with school statistics and reports from the various departments of the white schools including supervisor of undergraded schools; director of primary instruction; director of night schools; director of music; director of drawing supervisor of manual training; director of domestic science; director of physical training; director of kindergarten; principals of normal school No. 1; Central High School; Eastern High School; Western High School; Business High School and McKinley Manual Training School. As the report is intended for general circulation especially among educators and by them, consulted for comparative information it should treat all parts of the school system with equal fairness—let us see if it does. Out of a total enrollment, as shown by the report, the colored pupils number 17,379 out of 53,385—a fraction less than one-third of the whole number enrolled, yet not one official report from any of the above enumerated bodies can be found in the report between the introductory by the president of the Board of Education, and the map of the District of Columbia pasted on the last page. In so far as the report shows there is absolutely nothing to convey to Educators, etc., that the pupils in the colored schools are taught any of the higher branches taught in the white schools.

Assistant superintendent Bryce covers twenty-five pages of the report with reminiscence of ancient history and beautiful word painting of high ideals and long deferred hope of seeing an improved future for schools, but is essentially lacking in information as to what has been accomplished by the magnificent teaching force, who makes it possible for him to devote one line to them out of his twenty-five pages.

If the reports referred to are of any value they should embrace all of the schools and not discriminate. If they are of no value why encumber the annual report with them? There are, out of nine, three colored members of the Board—also a colored assistant superintendent; under the law—the colored members are coequal.

Several Blue Lodges were kept supposed to work together for the interest of all the schools why then this discrimination?

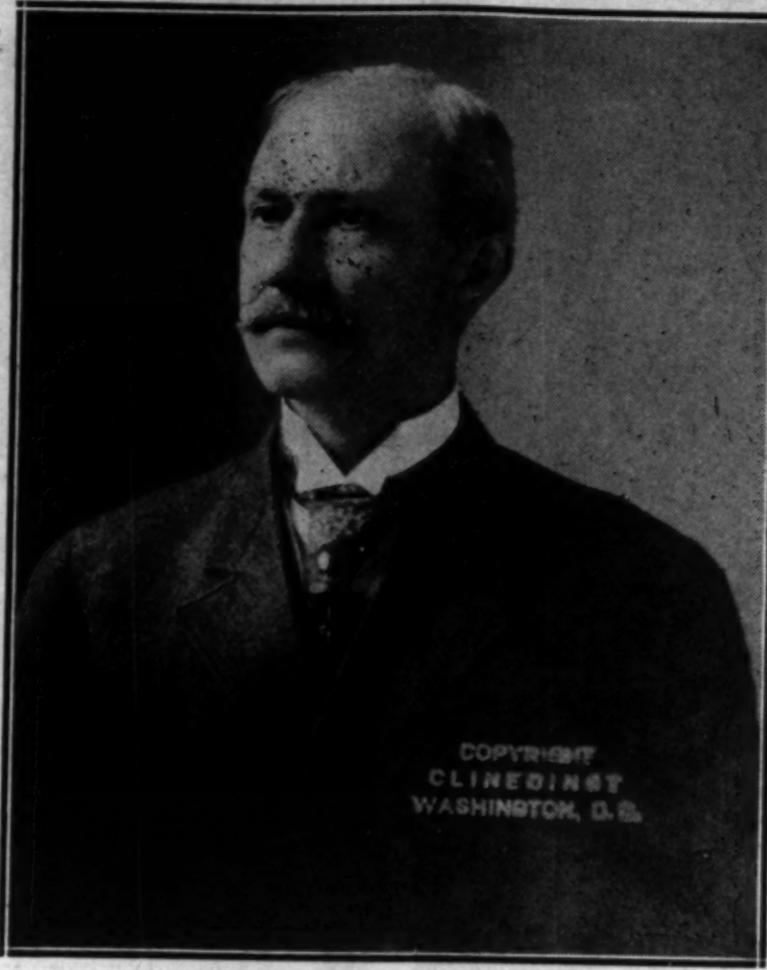

Henry Johnson.

NORD ALEXIS OF HAYTI DEAD
Cruel Ruler Dies in Exile—Ninety Years Old.

Had Been Fighting and Conspiring in the Negro Republic Since 1839—Chosen President in 1902. He Was Overthrown by the People and Driven Out.

Kingston, Jamica, May 1.—Gen. Nord Alexis, President of Hayti from 1902 to 1908, died here this morning of senile decay. He is said by some to have been over a hundred years old. More likely he was about 99.

He was exiled in 1908 after his downfall as President and came here to live. He was amnestied by President Simon a few months ago and was preparing to return to Hayti. The body will be sent to Hayti for burial beside that of his wife, who died last year.

Gen. Alexis is reputed to have died enormously rich.

Nord Alexis was born, according to the best authorities, at Cape Hayti on August 2, 1820. He was a son of Baronet de Nord Alexis, a member of the court of Henri Christophe who in 1811 called himself King Henry I. of Hayti. His mother was a daughter of Baron Pavic and goddaughter of Christophe himself. The late President inherited some of the ideals of the mild mannered Christophe, who at one time ordered his chief of police to prove his loyalty by bringing on a plate to the palace the heads of his (the police chief's) wife and daughters, and saw to it that his order was observed.

Brought up in the tradition of this reign young Nord Alexis became a soldier at the age of 19. He became an aide-de camp of President Pierrot, another erratic ruler of unfortunate Hayti. He married the President's daughter in 1845 and became quite an important personage in the army and in politics. Soulouque made him Governor of La Plaine du Nord and later of Aienle du Nord. In 1865 when Sylvain Salnave started an uprising against President Geffrard he had Alexis as an ally and the two made things very warm for the powers that were until the British gunboat Bulldog arrived and bombarded Cape Hayti, the stronghold of the revolutionists. Incidentally that gunboat blew itself out of the water. After the bombardment Salnave and Alexis escaped on a United States gunboat to Santo Domingo.

There the two plotted a triumphant return. They went back to Hayti in 1867 and Salnave had himself proclaimed Protector of the republic.

The Congress, however, promptly adopted a constitution cutting down his term to four years. In 1869 he made himself Dictator, but the people arose and overthrew him. He was tried and shot. Alexis was made Minister of War in the provisional Government which followed. Five years later Alexis was exiled by one President and returned within a year, just in time to be exiled by another. In 1879 he went back to the island during President Salomon's regime and was arrested twice in 1880 and 1883.

The night of September 28, 1888, was unusually exciting for Alexis, who at that time was fighting under Seide Thelemaque, an aspirant for the position of President left vacant by the hasty departure of Salomon. Thelemaque was defeated and killed, with the white members, and all are but Alexis rallied his soldiers and succeeded in gaining a temporary victory over the Salomon faction headed by President Legitime.

Then came President Hippolyte, and for fourteen years under him and Simon Sam Nord Alexis served as Governor of the north and north-west parishes of the republic. In May, 1902, Sam resigned and provisional Government was formed. Three candidates for the Presidency threatened the country with new bloodshed. The Congress was prolonged to December 17, when Port au Prince broke away from the three and demanded Nord Alexis. The National Assembly at once elected him. He was the twentieth ruler of Hayti in 100 years.

Hayti soon found that Alexis had not forgotten the traditions of his youth. He made himself the head of a rule of militarism. When a man displeased him the President sent around a company of his Falstaffian soldiers and they attended to that man right on the spot. As late as 1908 the German Consul-General asked his country to send warships to awe the bloodthirsty old President, and gave as a reason for the request the fact that Alexis was rapidly imprisoning or executing all who opposed his policies. In an interview at that time the consul said that Alexis's soldiers dug grave for those whom they had shot down, and if the graves were not long enough they simply chopped off the corpses legs. There was no time to dig new graves. Thirty men were killed in one battle before breakfast one morning. An anti-foreign outbreak was threatened too.

The President lived in barbaric splendor surrounded by officers who had all they could do to walk about, so laden were they with gold lace. His guards are reported to have been constantly sleeping in the rooms of the comic opera palace, the furnishings of which were imported from abroad at unheard of expense. Alexis himself wore a uniform of glaring green and gold. He had polished manners and spoke excellent French. Here is a description of his personal appearance during the last days of his rule:

"His face was black as black could be. It was far more Ethiopian than the average Negro in the North. The profile was almost triangular and the chin dropped straight off. Behind his gold spectacles his eyes were sunken, and the whites were discolored to a dirty brown."

There were incessant plots and uprisings against his rule, but it was not until December, 1908, that any kind of effectual resistance was made. Then the people arose in a body and thrust him out. A revolutionary army had possession of about half the republic. At last the people of Port au Prince suddenly rose one morning, the administration buildings were seized and mobs surged around the rococo palace calling upon the old man inside to come out and be killed. He watched them from an upper window for a day. He was game and would have fought to the death, but the foreign Consuls urged surrender. So with a few attendants he drove in the carriage of the French Consul through the streets to a waiting French schoolship while the people spat at him and cursed him. He seemed more overcome by their "ingratitude" than by the loss of his power. Leaving the carriage, he left a bag of gold in it, said to amount to $20,000. This mob looted. In the course of his exile the deposed President came to this country and remained a few months. There was a very persistent belief among those who knew Alexis best that he was a believer in voodooism and that the cruelty in the man's nature was a religion with him. It is hardly doubtful that he was an adherent of the savage African rites.

His successor was Gen. Simon, who is still President of Haiti, despite periodical conspiracies.

COLE AND JOHNSON.
The Bee's assurance that no smoking would be permitted during the two weeks' engagement of Cole and Johnson at the Lyceum Theater was an incentive for the Washington society turnout in full force.

It cannot be denied that these two artists are the most refined and cultured on the American stage to-day. The management can have no cause to complain. The two weeks' engagement of this company demonstrated the appreciation the people have of the "Red Moon" company. Wednesday, and, in fact, even the appearance of the circus, didn't lessen the theatergoers. Those who failed to witness these performances missed a treat.

STOP CROOKED VOTING IS STRANGE CHINESE ANIMAL

Italian Civil Engineer Invents the "Peephograph" to Foil Ballot Box Stuffers.

Rome.—European ballot box stuffers, who are as expert as any of Boss Tweed's henchmen ever were in the palmy days of corruption in New York politics, soon will find their occupation gone. An Italian civil engineer, Signor Gogiano, has invented a voting machine which, it is claimed, is absolutely "unstoppable" and incorruptible. He calls this invention the peephograph. So complete and safe

New Voting Machine.

History has this machine proved that it had been adopted by both the Italian and the French governments.

The peephograph is a little over a yard in height and is provided with as many openings as there are candidates in the field. The voter presents his card to an official who has charge of the voting booth and receives a small metal chip about the size of an American dime. He is then given permission to enter the booth and steps behind two screens which render him invisible to both the public and the overseers alike. There he finds the voting machine facing him.

After carefully scanning the different slots, above which is a space containing the names of the candidates, he selects the one he wishes to vote for and drops his chip in the slot corresponding to it. The fall of the chip causes an interior lever to rise, this movement making the number of persons voting appear on a little tablet on the outside, which is always visible, and in the interior registering the vote for the chosen candidate. When the voting is over the official in charge lifts aside the metal covering on which is registered the number of persons voting and the number of votes obtained by each candidate is revealed. By this system 27,000 votes were cast in two hours at a recent election at Turin.

GETS A GOLDEN CROWN

Miss Mabel Boardman Honored by Italy for Aiding Victims of the Earthquake.

Boston.—The Marquis de Montagnart, Italian chargé d'affaires at Washington, has remitted to Miss Mabel Boardman of Manchester, Mass., and Washington, a golden crown, the gift of the Italian government in recognition of her services as a member of Miss Boardman.

The American Red Cross society to the victims of the recent Italian earthquake.

The crown, a reproduction of the ancient Roman civic crown, is composed of oak leaves and acorns, made of solid gold. It is inclosed in a typical Roman box of leather, which is adorned by the royal coat-of-arms in gold. On the crown is engraved:

"To Miss Mabel Boardman of the Red Cross, from the Italian Government, as a Token of Gratitude, 1908."

Miss Boardman, as the executive head of the Red Cross society, recently announced her intention to devote her life entirely to its interests. She is the sister-in-law of Senator Crane and was a member of the famous Taft Philippine party. While visiting Japan she saw the evidence of the work of the Red Cross in the Russo-Japanese war and was impressed with the boundless possibilities of the movement. She is an intimate friend of both President and Mrs. Taft.

New York.—Strange to contemplate is the Chinese takin, first of its kind ever brought to the shores of the United States, which was placed on exhibition, stuffed, in the American Museum of Natural History. As far as is known to Mason Mitchell, one of the American consuls in China, who presented the specimen to the institution, he is the only Caucasian who has ever seen one on its native crags.

The takin, or Chinese buffalo, which now adorns the museum, is about the size of a Jersey cow, and it cannot be said that he bears much resemblance to the American bison. His body and legs suggest both the antelope and the goat, his back is like that of a yak and his head, which is surrounded by curving horns, has the bulging nose which suggests that of the moose. The takin has hoofs which are parted and his ways are like those of the goat. He is a rather heavy animal, yet he spends his time in the western mountains of the Sze-Chuan province, where he gets about among the crags as lightly as does the big horn of the Rockies. He is strong and able-bodied and in a fight can give a good account of himself.

The hide of the takin which was sent here was dry and as hard as a board, and Mr. Figgins, chief taxidermist of the museum, had a long struggle with it in getting it into proper form, but by following the hair patterns he has been enabled to present the skin with all the distinction which an animal of such complicated anatomy deserves.

The hoofs of the creature are very hard and have grooves and scratches in them, which indicate that he was well accustomed to making his agile way over the sharp rocks in his native province.

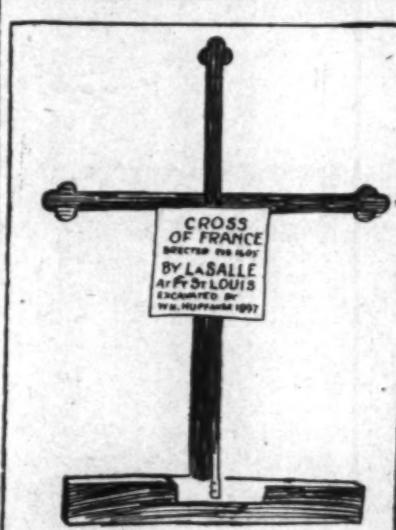

Mr. Mitchell has sent to the American museum several rare animals which he obtained in remote parts of the Chinese empire.

A REMINDER OF LA SALLE.

Cross Found on the Site of Old Fort St. Louis Built by Explorer in Texas in 1685.

Houston, Tex.—A number of ancient relics have been found from time to time during the last few years upon the site of old Fort St. Louis which La Salle, the noted French explorer, and his brave band of adventurers erected in 1685 upon the east bank of the Nueces river, just above where Port Lavaca, Texas, is now situated. One of these historic reminders of the visit of the explorer is a cross which is made of iron. It was found several feet beneath the surface near the bank of the river. It is now in possession of Harry Bickford of Port Lavaca.

It was from Fort St. Louis that La Salle started upon his ill-fated expedition into the interior in search of the Mississippi river. He entered Pass Cavallo and explored Matagorda bay in the original belief, it is said, that it was here that the Mississippi river emptied its broad waters. He spent some time exploring the coast in this section and then went up the Nueces river some ten miles and there built his little fort. The site of this first settlement is full of beauty. The timbers of the ancient fort long since have rotted, but there are still heaps of stones and pieces of iron to be found scattered about upon the site.

The trip which La Salle and his band of explorers made across the country was full of dangers and hardships. They are said to have left a few men behind to retain possession of Fort St. Louis. What became of these men history does not say. It is reasonable to suppose that they were killed by Indians.

THE OLD NEGRO MAMMY

From the New York Sun.
We see that the Galveston people who proposed in the first place to erect a monument to the old colored mammy have been prevailed upon to transfer the location to Washington, making it a national affair and inviting all parts of the country to contribute.
It is a good and pleasant opportunity, in our opinion and we should like to see the whole nation take part in it. Storied urns and sacred edifices have been placed in all parts of our land, dedicated to memories good, bad and indifferent and to achievements noble, benevolent or otherwise. We see heroes, some of them too cheap to quote, careering on stationary but foaming horses, and mark the attitudes of sculptured patriots and statesmen, most of whom are planted in our private pantheons and immortalized in grateful memory. But we encounter also the ef-figies of Mud-stained publicists and futile warriors and questionable benefactors. Nothing more or less could be expected. We let it go at that. All of us, however, can unite upon the old black mammy, the millions who have enjoyed her kindly ministrations and the other and more numerous millions who have only heard of them.

Ah! just think, a free trip to Atlantic City for three of the most pop-

WORTH ADVERTISING FOR

There are 5,499 Negroes employed here in Washington by the Government alone, and these 5,499 Negroes draw salaries aggregating $3,044,404. These more than three millions of dollars are spent right here in Washington, but scattered among the hundreds of tradesmen. Is this amount of money worth advertising for? It certainly is, and not even the largest stores in this city would refuse to get the big end of it did they but realize how much money the Negroes are really spending.

Now The Bee is the only Negro publication in this city. It stands without a rival or competitor, and covers the field like a few of the merchants in this city will patronize the advertising interests of The Bee, presenting the attractive bargains they may have, these Negroes—these 5,499 Negroes who draw annually from the Government over three millions of dollars—will assume that by purchasing a publication edited and operated by one of their own that such firms desire and deserve their patronage. And such firms will receive the bulk of these over three millions of dollars received and spent by the Negroes of Washington.

What clothing stores, what furniture stores, what dry goods stores and what other lines of business will now make an effort to advertise these over three millions of dollars spent by Washington Negroes by advertising in The Bee?

Place your advertising in The Bee and watch these 5,499 approximate Negroes spend their over three millions of dollars with you.

Now is the time to advertise in The Bee, the newspaper that goes into every Negro home in Washington. Remember, merchants of Washington, it's what advertising pays you, not what it costs.

MORE MONEY—RACE PROGRESS.

If colored people groom themselves daintily, destroy perspiration odors, remove grease shine from the face, and use our new discoveries for improving the skin and dressing the hair, they will be better received in the business world, make more money, and advance faster.

The Chemical Wonder Company of New York is the best business friend colored people have. It improves their bodies as Dr. Booker Washington improves their minds. That Company manufactures nine Chemical Wonders, which will make colored people as attractive as individual peculiarities will permit. Colored men in New York who use these Wonders hold better situations in banks, clubs and business houses, and women have better positions, marry better, get along better.

(1.) Complexion WonderCream will light up any colored face (black or brown) every time it is used. To prove this on one trial, we send demonstration sample for 10 cents. Regular jar, 50 cents postpaid.

SCHOOL REPORT

The report of the Board of Education has called forth a letter to The Bee from Ex-School Trustee, Mr. Henry Johnson. He directs his attention to the reports of Superintendent Stewart and Bruce. The former he says deals in statistics while the latter deals in platitudes and glittering generalities. Mr. Bruce's report shows nothing about the progress or workings of the colored schools states Mr. Johnson. If the reports of ex-Superintendent Cook were read today there would be seen a vast difference. Mr. Cook always found time and space to commend his teachers and publish the report of his supervisors and principals of schools. Mr. Bruce's report fails to see any merit in his teachers. If he saw any he failed to state the fact to the Board of Education. So far as the Board of Education is concerned it is believed that it does its duty. The colored members of the Board as Mr. Johnson says have equal power with the whites. Why don't the colored members exercise that power? The letter of Mr. Johnson is very interesting.

WHY COMPLAIN?

Of course there are a few colored Americans who are anxious to be classed with the white people and there are a few others who are satisfied with present conditions. There are a few white people who don't want to come in contact with colored Americans. Why then should the colored people complain? A lesson may be drawn from the play of the Red Moon at the Lyceum Theatre. There are but a few of the whites in this country who are able to write such a play as Red Moon and but a few who are competent to sing the music. The colored play writer is surpassing his white competitor in musical composition as is evidenced by that great play of Red Moon. Let us cease complaining and do something to elevate ourselves then this race prejudice will cease to exist.

AUDITOR TYLER

The Bee is an admirer of Auditor Ralph W. Tyler. He is a man who is the manager of his own office and one in whom the race has confidence. If he has any faults they don't tend to degrade his people. He is a man, notwithstanding the criticism of his enemies. The colored American has a great deal to learn.

ATTORNEY WARING

Information reaches The Bee that Attorney Robert L. Waring will resign his position in the police department. Attorney Waring doesn't propose to be the foot ball for men who are too narrow to appreciate ability. Beyond all doubt Mr. Waring is one of the best writers among colored Americans in this country. Perhaps Mr. Johnston will have something to investigate.

HOWARD TRUSTEESHIP.
The Bee is informed that an effort will be made to elect a colored politician on the Board of Trustees of Howard University. The Bee cannot believe that Dr. Thirkred would burden this University with a nonentity, especially a man who is not even a graduate of the institution. It would be a disgrace to the alumni of the institution. Dr. Thirkred needs strong and influential men in his family.

The Color Line

DRAWING THE COLOR LINE AT OBERLIN

(From the Cleveland Plain-Dealer.) Undergraduates of Oberlin are drawing sharp lines of discrimination against the Negro. Old alumni can hardly believe it. Professors and college officials nevertheless admit race prejudice has slowly but surely eaten its way into the social vitals of the institution. Letters of protest are pouring into the college town by the score. Public indignation meetings are being held by graduates throughout the state.

And yet the Negro is beyond question barred from enjoying his classmates' privileges in Oberlin. Literary societies which profess to be open to membership without consideration of race or color have lately issued the edict against the Negro. Choirs in churches whose history is a real part of that of the college are turning a deaf ear to the application of the Negro singer. College boarding houses no longer will allow the Negro to eat at the same table with the white man.

In athletics conditions are much the same. A Negro may try for any of the teams but he finds it hard to land a place. The track team management has issued an ultimatum to the Negro students to the effect that, when the team goes to Columbus this spring, Negro athletes will have to find their own hotel quarters and shift for themselves.

Athletic Teams Complain

For years track teams have had to put up, it is said, with accommodations at inferior hotels on account of the Negro. But this state of affairs will not exist longer. The Negro student can make the track team hereafter but the rules are made so stringent he would much prefer not to take any part in Oberlin athletics.

It is the same in baseball and football, according to college instructors. Negroes are not actually barred from the teams but they might as well be, it is asserted. The boys make it embarrassing for their Negro teammates at every opportunity.

The literary societies of the college have taken the most decided stand in the race question. Alpha Zeta, Phi Delta and Phi Kappa Pi, three of the men's literary organizations, have barred Negroes from their enrollment lists. This action was taken during the past winter.

About a year ago a Negro applied for membership in one of the college societies, but was rejected. Later strong pressure was brought to bear upon the undergraduates by the alumni so that the bars were let down again for the admission of the Negro.

Feeling Invades Class Rooms

More recently the rising tide of prejudice has flooded the college halls. It has flowed into some of the classrooms. In one of the Bible study courses, so pronounced was the feeling that separate sections had to be organized, with the white men students in one division and the Negroes in another. Then the boarding house keepers yielded to racial prejudice, it is said, with the result that Negroes can no longer sleep and eat under the same roof with white men.

Officers of the college, prominent alumni all over the country and leading educators look upon this move of the Oberlin undergraduates with disfavor. The ostracism of the Negro is not sanctioned by the faculty. Professors are up in arms because of the attitude of the students.

Close followers of Oberlin's history declare the action of the undergraduates is a blow to the prestige of the institution. For three-quarters of a century, since the establishment of the college, it has been its policy to extend a cordial welcome to all nationalities. Never was there a trace of the color line in Oberlin. The college motto, unofficially, was "equality for all, whether white or black."

Some of the professors call the marked prejudicial attitude against the negro in Oberlin evidence of how race antipathy is growing in all the colleges of the country. Then, too it is said, the feeling against the African is shifting from the South to the North more and more, and the ultimatum of Oberlin's students is but added proof of this.

What made the race question vital in the college was an article which appeared in the March number of the Oberlin Alumni magazine by Prof. L. E. Lord, editor of the periodical. This article stated that inasmuch as the literary societies of the college had slammed the door of admission in his face, the Negro was obliged to organize a society of his own.

This Negro society has its own programs and debates as do the white students' organizations. The Negroes conduct the society along exactly the same lines as the Phi Delta or Phi Kappa Pi. The only difference is that the members are all Negroes. Here are a few excerpts from Prof. Lord's article:

"The presence of Negroes on the track team has caused difficulty in securing proper hotel accommodations for the white men—it is said that last year the track team voluntarily went to a third-class hotel because of its Negro members.

"The manager of the track team offered to go with the Negroes to any hotel in Columbus which would receive them but the Negroes refused to go to Columbus at all unless the whole team could be accommodated—notice has now been served on the Negroes that they will have to shift for themselves at Columbus (the management paying the expenses)—the track team members say that they cannot afford to put up at an inferior hotel."

Charles W. Williams, assistant to the president of Oberlin, said yesterday that the attitude of the undergraduate body toward the Negro was due in a large measure to the position held by Booker T. Washington, leader of the Negro race. Mr. Washington says that he will not demand social equality between the Negro and the white man until the Negro has secured an economic status in society.

"The students at Oberlin," said Mr. Williams, "have taken Mr. Washington at his word on that point and do not feel they are obliged to accept the Negro socially." While Williams can see the students point of view, he deplores the recent move to ostracize the Negro socially at the time of the election.

Prof. L. E. Lord said: "I am sure that there is no more growing sentiment here at Oberlin against the Negro than there is all over the country in the colleges and universities. I think the prejudice has increased from the Atlantic to the Pacific tremendously of late. The faculty of Oberlin, however, is opposed to any discrimination along this line. We do not uphold the students in their action."

Prof. A. S. Root, acting president of the college, thinks the sentiment against the Negro is gaining force in the Northern States. He is of the opinion racial prejudice is becoming an opinion wide. He says that the faculty does not endorse the attitude of the undergraduates in the move to ostracize the Negro socially from the college map.

E. J. Goodrich, one of the college trustees, said last night he did not believe the present uprising of the white students against their Negro classmates was representative of the whole college.

"This prejudice is stirred up by only a few men and by no means reflects the true spirit of the academic body," he said.

AN EVENING WITH PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC

At 8:10 o'clock the great Metropolitan A. M. E. Church, the largest church in the city, was comfortably filled with the representative people of our city.

It was a notable evening—the assistant director of music, Dr. John T. Layton and his assistants were to present to the patrons and friends of our schools the methods carried out along musical lines for the development of our children—in their words tell you what must be done and then illustrate through teacher and pupil what is being done.

Attorney L. G. Gregory, president of Bethel Historical and Literary Society in a very fitting manner introduced Dr. J. T. Layton—in part he said that all were aware of the height that music in our schools had attained—that to the efforts of the assistant director, John T. Layton more good had been accomplished, that music had been raised to a higher standard and today stood foremost in the musical world due to the efficient training and supervision of this great musical man; that more had been accomplished under his supervision and that to him was due the credit of the excellent standard of music in Washington, D. C., both in school, church and church work. He then presented Dr. John T. Layton, who very graphically described "tone relationship or sight reading and musical expression." He demonstrated how sight reading should be developed. How tone relationship should be taught and gave a graphic picture of musical expression—citing the metrical, rhythmic and emotional expressions and how brought out. His paper was erudite and showed careful study and research—was thoroughly appreciated by the lovers of music—was well delivered and by the applause given was received with a spontaneous outburst. The following program demonstrated what Dr. Layton and his efficient corps of teachers are doing for the development of music in our schools, placing them at the high scale attained by the very best musical training in this country.

IT IS THE NEW EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION

WASHINGTON IS THE SEAT OF OUR NATION'S GOVERNMENT.

The eyes of the world are on Washington...
One-third of Washington's population is Negro.

If all the Negroes in Washington were colonized in one place they would make a city larger than Richmond, Virginia.

There are seven theatres in Washington, supported by a white population of 241,923—and a few foolish Negroes willing to be colonized in the galleries, the only place to which the Negro is admitted.

THERE IS NOT A SINGLE FIRST-CLASS OFFICE BUILDING in the city of Washington, where a colored professional or business man or woman, and there are hundreds of them in the National Capital, can obtain business quarters.

JUST THINK OF IT! 100,000 enterprising, thrifty, intelligent people, through race prejudice, swept completely out of the business district of Washington; 100,000 genteel, prosperous, amusement loving people deprived of every form of theatrical entertainment unless willing to submit to the most humiliating conditions.

Every colored man and woman IN Washington.

Every colored man and woman VISITING Washington.

Every colored man and woman in America, familiar with the true state of the Negro in Washington, realizes that a theatre, store, and office building, operated by the Negroes, for the Negroes, is A NECESSITY.

The welfare of the race demands it.

The self-respect of the race demands it.

Any enterprise resting its hope of success upon a NECESSITY is bound to be a SUCCESS.

A THEATRE AND OFFICE BUILDING IN THE CITY OF WASHINGTON, built by Negroes, for the use of Negroes, is a NECESSITY.

Appreciating to the utmost that fact—
THE LINCOLN MEMORIAL BUILDING COMPANY proposes to erect in the Central Business District of the city of Washington a magnificent theatre, seating capacity 2,500, and a store and office building of splendid proportion, adequate in every respect to meet the requirements of prosperous professional and business men.

The enterprise is exceptional in two respects:

First—It is absolutely safe.

Second—It promises enormous possibilities as a money maker.

Features that must appeal to every man or woman with a few dollars to invest, and you are such a man or woman or you would not have read this far.

THE LINCOLN MEMORIAL BUILDING COMPANY has surveyed the field carefully, and it KNOWS that hundreds of tenants are available for the offices, that dozens of merchants are ready to rent the stores, and that 100,000 people are anxious to patronize the theatre exclusively, and make it the best paying amusement place in America.

IT KNOWS ALL THIS AND IT INVITES YOU TO PARTICIPATE in an enterprise ABSOLUTELY DEVOID OF RISK, where every dollar will be invested in the best of Washington Real Estate, that increases in value annually at the rate of 5% per cent—nearly DOUBLE bank interest.

Even that is good enough for most people, but the LINCOLN MEMORIAL BUILDING COMPANY will do better than that. It will have offices and stores and lodges rooms, which will earn, on a conservative estimate, at least $23,200 per year. Equal to 5 9-10 per cent per annum.

It will also have a theatre, which, if patronized at prices ranging from 10 to 50 cents, by only 1 per cent of the total colored population of the city of Washington, will enable the Company to pay 15 per cent on its total capitalization. Equal in all to 20 9-10 per cent, to which may be added the land value increase of 5% per cent.

Now, all this is Conservatively Estimated. Banks and Insurance Companies engage in enterprises like this with their depositors' and policyholders' money—YOUR money, but YOU get only about 3 or 3 1/2 per cent. The banks or insurance companies keep the balance.

OUR GOVERNMENT

Justice John M. Harlan will speak before the professors and students of Howard University School of Law on, "The Principles that Underlie our Government," this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The exercises will take place in the Library Hall of the Carnegie Library, on the campus. Members of the legal fraternity of the city are cordially invited to be present.

Hertford, N. C. probably has, in proportion to its population, a larger number of colored people owning their own homes than any where else in this State. The houses are usually two stories, roomy, well built and in the most favorable part of the city. If one were not previously informed before reaching this part of the town he would as a matter of course conclude that the residents are white people. Truly, this is an instance where "the bottom rail seems to be on top."

bine Societies of "White" Citizens for Promotion of City's Welfare—Committee to Report Nominations Next Week.

Interest was intense at the meeting of the Federation of Citizens' Associations of the District last Saturday evening during a prolonged discussion and the taking of a number of ballots which resulted in the decision that only "civic associations and societies of white citizens" should be members of the organization. The session was conducted at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce.

The discussion between the presidents of the Negro citizens' associations and the delegates of the white associations who were opposed to the admittance of the Negroes grew warm. The withdrawal from the hall of the Negro delegates, however, relieved the tension, and the session progressed in its usual even tenor.

Many Delegates Present

Delegates from almost every citizens' association in the District attended the meeting of the federation which was formed two weeks ago. It had been called for the ratification of the constitution, which was framed by C. C. Lancaster, J. G. McGrath, W. H. Richardson, W. M. Cromwell, and Glenn Brown.

When the first section was read there were objections from the representatives of the Negro associations to the word "white" remaining in the section. They were supported by delegates of several other organizations, and the discussion became so heated that the Negro representatives which caused the trouble, reads:

"The object and purpose of this federation is to obtain the expression of representative public sentiment and obtain united representative action of all eligible civic associations and societies of white citizens of the National Capital by their accredited delegates, on all questions of a general character relating to and effecting the growth, welfare, and beauty of the District of Columbia."

As soon as it was read, Daniel Murray, a Negro, representing the Washington Civic Citizens' Association, objected to the word "white," and asked that it be stricken out.

"The colored associations of Washington can be of great benefit to the federation," said Murray, "and I see no reason why they should not be admitted. We are all striving for the betterment of conditions, so why shouldn't the Negro assist?"

Others Enter Protests.

This speech prompted others. A. W. Carroll, Negro, president of the Original Garfield Citizens' Association, got the eye of Chairman Clayton, and in fiery remarks accused the federation officers of bringing the Negroes to the meeting to be insulted.

"Why were we brought here?" demanded Carroll. "I thought I came as your guest. I have your invitation, and it never once entered my mind that I would not meet gentlemen here. Yet when myself and others, who are striving to uplift the colored race come here, we get insulted—yes, almost murdered."

This brought C. C. Lancaster, chairman of the committee on constitution, to his feet. Turning to Mr. Carroll, he said:

"It is all a mistake that you are here. You shouldn't have been here. It is my opinion, and the opinion of others here, that we can do better work with only the help of the white citizens' associations. We want no entangling alliances. The taking in of Negro associations would kill this movement. If your associations are ambitious as you say they are, you can do just the same as we are doing. The races have been segregated in Washington, and I see no need for an alliance in citizens' associations. You can form one from the associations which you control!"

While Mr. Lancaster was speaking, Murry and Carroll left the room.

Dr. J. E. Wiseman, colored, president of the Howard Park Association, told of his efforts to improve his locality, and then announcing in fervid tones that he was being unjustly treated, left the room. J. A. Henderson, colored, of the Ivy City Association, claimed that the Negro associations represented one-third of the population of Washington and should be considered. Then he, too, departed. J. A. Mason, of the Deanwood Association, also a Negro, asked that the Negro associations be given a chance, and waited until after the vote, 11 to 9 favoring the word "white," was announced before retiring. When this question was settled the meeting moved along in a business-like manner.

Explains Sending of Invitations

With the retirements of the Negro delegates Secretary Edwards announced that the negroes were at the meeting through a mistake. He said he procured a list of associations from the District clerk and sent an invitation to every association, five of which happened to be composed of Negro citizens. The remainder of the constitution was approved with a few slight changes.

Chairman Clayton appointed a committee of five to report on nominations at the meeting to take place next Saturday evening. The committee includes Allan Davis, Glen Brown, John G. McGrath, J. Russ Marshall, John A. Edwards. John B. Henderson, former Speaker of the House of Representatives, was named on the committee, but resigned.

Dr. Wiseman is one of the best known colored educators in the United States and a man above reproach.

Mr. A. W. Carroll is a property owner in the country and a man of ability.

"PEGGOTTY" HUT A SAD RUIN

Yarmouth Scenes Which Dickens Described in His Story of "David Copperfield."

London.—A Yarmouth hundred of herring really counts 133, and in many ways the inhabitants of the old town are credited with an open-handed generosity. Peggotty told David Copperfield, you remember, that it was the finest place in the universe, to which the boy replied that "a mound or two might have improved it, and also that if the land had been a little more separated from the sea and the town and the tide had not been quite so much mixed up, like toast and water, it would have been much nicer." But presently, when he got into the streets and "smelt the fish and pitch, and oakum, and tallow, and saw the sailors walking about and the carts jingling up and down over the stones." Young Copperfield admitted that he had done Yarmouth an injustice.

The remains of Peggotty's hut may still be seen, sad and forlorn, alas! suggestive nevertheless of the quaint home where David was so happy, of Peggotty's jokes, of little Emily's pretty ways and of the dolefulness of Mrs. Gummidge. There are many ancient buildings that have stood the test of time better than the queer boat-homes of Peggotty. Formerly Yarmouth was one of the principal ports of England, and its merchant adventurers enjoyed the patronage of Queen Elizabeth. Its Tolhouse claims to be the oldest municipal building in the kingdom.

Deadheads Must Be Coaxed. Concert givers in Germany find it more and more difficult to get an audience. Free tickets by no means insure one. A Berlin journal tells how audiences at recitals (Berlin often has more than 50 of them in one week) are apt to be made up.

Miss N., who plays or sings, sends out about 200 tickets, some of them to prominent persons. One of these is the wife of Prof. X. She kindly accepts the ticket, but has no intention of attending the concert, so she gives them to her dressmaker, who in turn bestows them upon her assistants, who probably may go to the concert. In one case it was found that of 200 free tickets only 47 were used.—Musical America.

Pulse and Respiration. Before birth the average number of pulsations per minute is 150; in the newly born, 140 to 130; during the first year, 130 to 115; second year, 115 to 100; seventh year, 90 to 85; fourteenth year, 85 to 80; adult life, 80 to 70; old age, 70 to 60.

At birth there are 44 respirations in one minute; at five years of age, 26; from 15 to 20, 20; from 20 to 25, 18.7; from 25 to 30, 18; from 30 to 50, 13.1. The average ratio which the number of respirations bears to the number of pulsations in a given time is 1:4.

The temperature of a healthy human adult averages from 98.4 to 98.6, but 97.5 and 99 F. are within normal.

YOUNG TEACHERS AT HOWARD

An alumnus of Howard University who was on the campus last Monday evening at the Stereopticon lectures given under the auspices of the class in Political Economy under Mr. Dyson and the class in Physics under Mr. Logan observed that the classroom work today is being made more interesting and practical in the university than in his day. He also observed that this is being done by the young teachers of the university.

The Rev. is always glad to hear of young colored men coming to the front and it trusts they will be given substantial encouragement by the older heads.

We learn through the local press some things about Mr. Dyson which we are glad to know.

For example, as a member of the Associated Charities of the District, he is working unselfishly for the betterment of the community.

Such men should be encouraged in every way possible.

Mr. Dyson is well-fitted we learn, for his work, being a graduate of Fisk and Yale and a student at Chicago University.

Before the construction of Washington Park absolutely no place of recreation was afforded the people of our race, and I proudly point to the fact that I have fulfilled the demands of the people in every respect.

You have one of the best and most modernly improved resorts in this part of the country. Washington Park with its myriads of electric lights, mammoth scenic railway, huge carousels, dance hall and numerous smaller amusement devices is surpassed in point of natural beauty and modern equipment by no resort south of New York.

By perseverance and an enormous cash outlay I have done this, and now I ask you to show me that I have your hearty support by calling at once and making charters for the coming season.

Yours for pleasure and comfort,
